Keith Famie
Producer/Director

Recipient of 10
Michigan Chapter Emmy Awards

Visionalist Entertainment Productions - we tell stories in a very unique and personal way. Our multi-award winning team, headed by producer-director Keith Famie, has garnered ten Michigan chapter Emmy Awards and numerous nominations for our human-interest films.

With a style that is purposeful, dramatic and when appropriate, emotional, we craft films from full-scale productions like "Detroit: Our Greatest Generation," and "Our Vietnam Generation" to films on a more intimate scale such as "Can You See How I See?," "Our Greek Story," and "Our Polish Story," to name just a few.

Visionalist Entertainment Productions has a relationship with WXYZ-TV7/ABC, WDIV-TV4/NBC and WTVS Channel 56, Detroit's PBS affiliate. They all have been extremely supportive of our community-based efforts.

Currently in production is a three-part documentary films series titled "The Embrace of Aging," where each series will focus on the aging process of men, women and the end of life. Each film promises to open the eyes of all of us in discovering how men and women from diverse environments and various cultures face the inevitable...how do they embrace aging? ## Corporate Films

Besides producing documentary films for television, we also pride ourselves in corporate films. These help tell the story of the vision and hard work of companies' accomplishments and its founders.

We also specialize in personal short documentary films called "It's My Life." This service is ideal for parents or grandparents. Very often a son or daughter contacts us to document their loved ones' story. The production experience is exciting for all involved.

Documentary Film Premieres

We take pride not only in the ability to create memorable and inspirational films, but also our ability to host magnificent premieres. Over the years, all of our films have been premiered in unique ways. Our ethnic films paid tribute to their homeland with music, dance and food. Detroit, Our Greatest Generation and Our Vietnam Generation both premiered at the historic Fox Theatre with over 3,000 attendees. At each of these events, hundreds of veterans gathered for a night of celebration, service and to remember their fallen comrades.

Visionalist Entertainment Productions is also deeply involved in the development of "Mikie's Minutes" – a fund created to honor SGT Michael Ingram, a Michigan soldier who was killed in Afghanistan. "Mikie's Minutes" provides calling cards to deployed U.S. soldiers around the world enabling them to keep up communication between their loved ones.
